

DISTRIBUTION & LOGISTICS

Stellar is recognized as the leading provider of innovative building and energy-efficient solutions. With a diverse group of architects, engineers and construction professionals, combined with our global capabilities, we serve the entire cold supply chain. Whether it's design-build, design only, or construction only our integrated team of experts leverages a depth of expertise to progress each project from concept to successful completion.

Our unique approach integrates Stellar's 35+ years of knowledge in industrial refrigeration for food processing plants and cold storage facilities. We collaborate with our clients to offer innovative solutions that save money while ensuring quality. Stellar can even take total ownership of your refrigeration system. That means end-to-end services and accountability — from system design to installation, to ongoing maintenance and repairs.
